FURTHER AFIELD

Here are some of our recommendations for what to do around central London, because why wouldn't you want to experience more of the most vibrant city in the world?

COVENT GARDEN

One of London's most vibrant cultural districts, known for its historic market, plethora of brands, street performers and theatres. Key attractions include the Royal Opera House and the London Transport Museum, with easy access to the West End.

Tip: Enjoy the piazza in the late afternoon when crowds ease, making it perfect for watching street performances.

Nearest tube stations: Covent Garden, Leicester Square, Holborn.

SOUTHWARK

Southwark is a historic riverside district blending heritage and contemporary culture. Highlights include Shakespeare's Globe Theatre, Borough Market, Tate Modern and Southwark Cathedral. Riverside walks along the Thames provide striking views of London Bridge and the City skyline.

Tip: Visit Borough Market in the morning for the freshest produce and a quieter experience.

Nearest stations: London Bridge, Southwark, Borough.

BARBICAN

A distinctive cultural and residential district, home to the Barbican Centre, the London Symphony Orchestra and contemporary galleries. Its landscaped gardens and waterways provide a tranquil contrast to central London.

Tip: Take a short walk around the Barbican estate to appreciate the unique architecture and peaceful public spaces.

Nearest stations: Barbican, Moorgate, St. Paul's.

HACKNEY

A creative, lively East London district known for its street art, galleries, and independent markets. Key attractions include Broadway Market, London Fields and Hackney Wick's arts and brewery scene.

Tip: Browse Broadway Market on a weekend morning to enjoy artisan foods and unique finds before it gets busy.

Nearest stations: Hackney Central (Overground), Bethnal Green.

HAMPSTEAD HEATH

One of London's most cherished green spaces, offering woodlands, ponds and sweeping views from Parliament Hill. Hampstead Village adds small shops and cafés, creating a calm, village atmosphere.

Tip: Enjoy a walk to Parliament Hill for panoramic city views, especially lovely at sunrise or sunset.

Nearest stations: Hampstead, Belsize Park, Swiss Cottage.

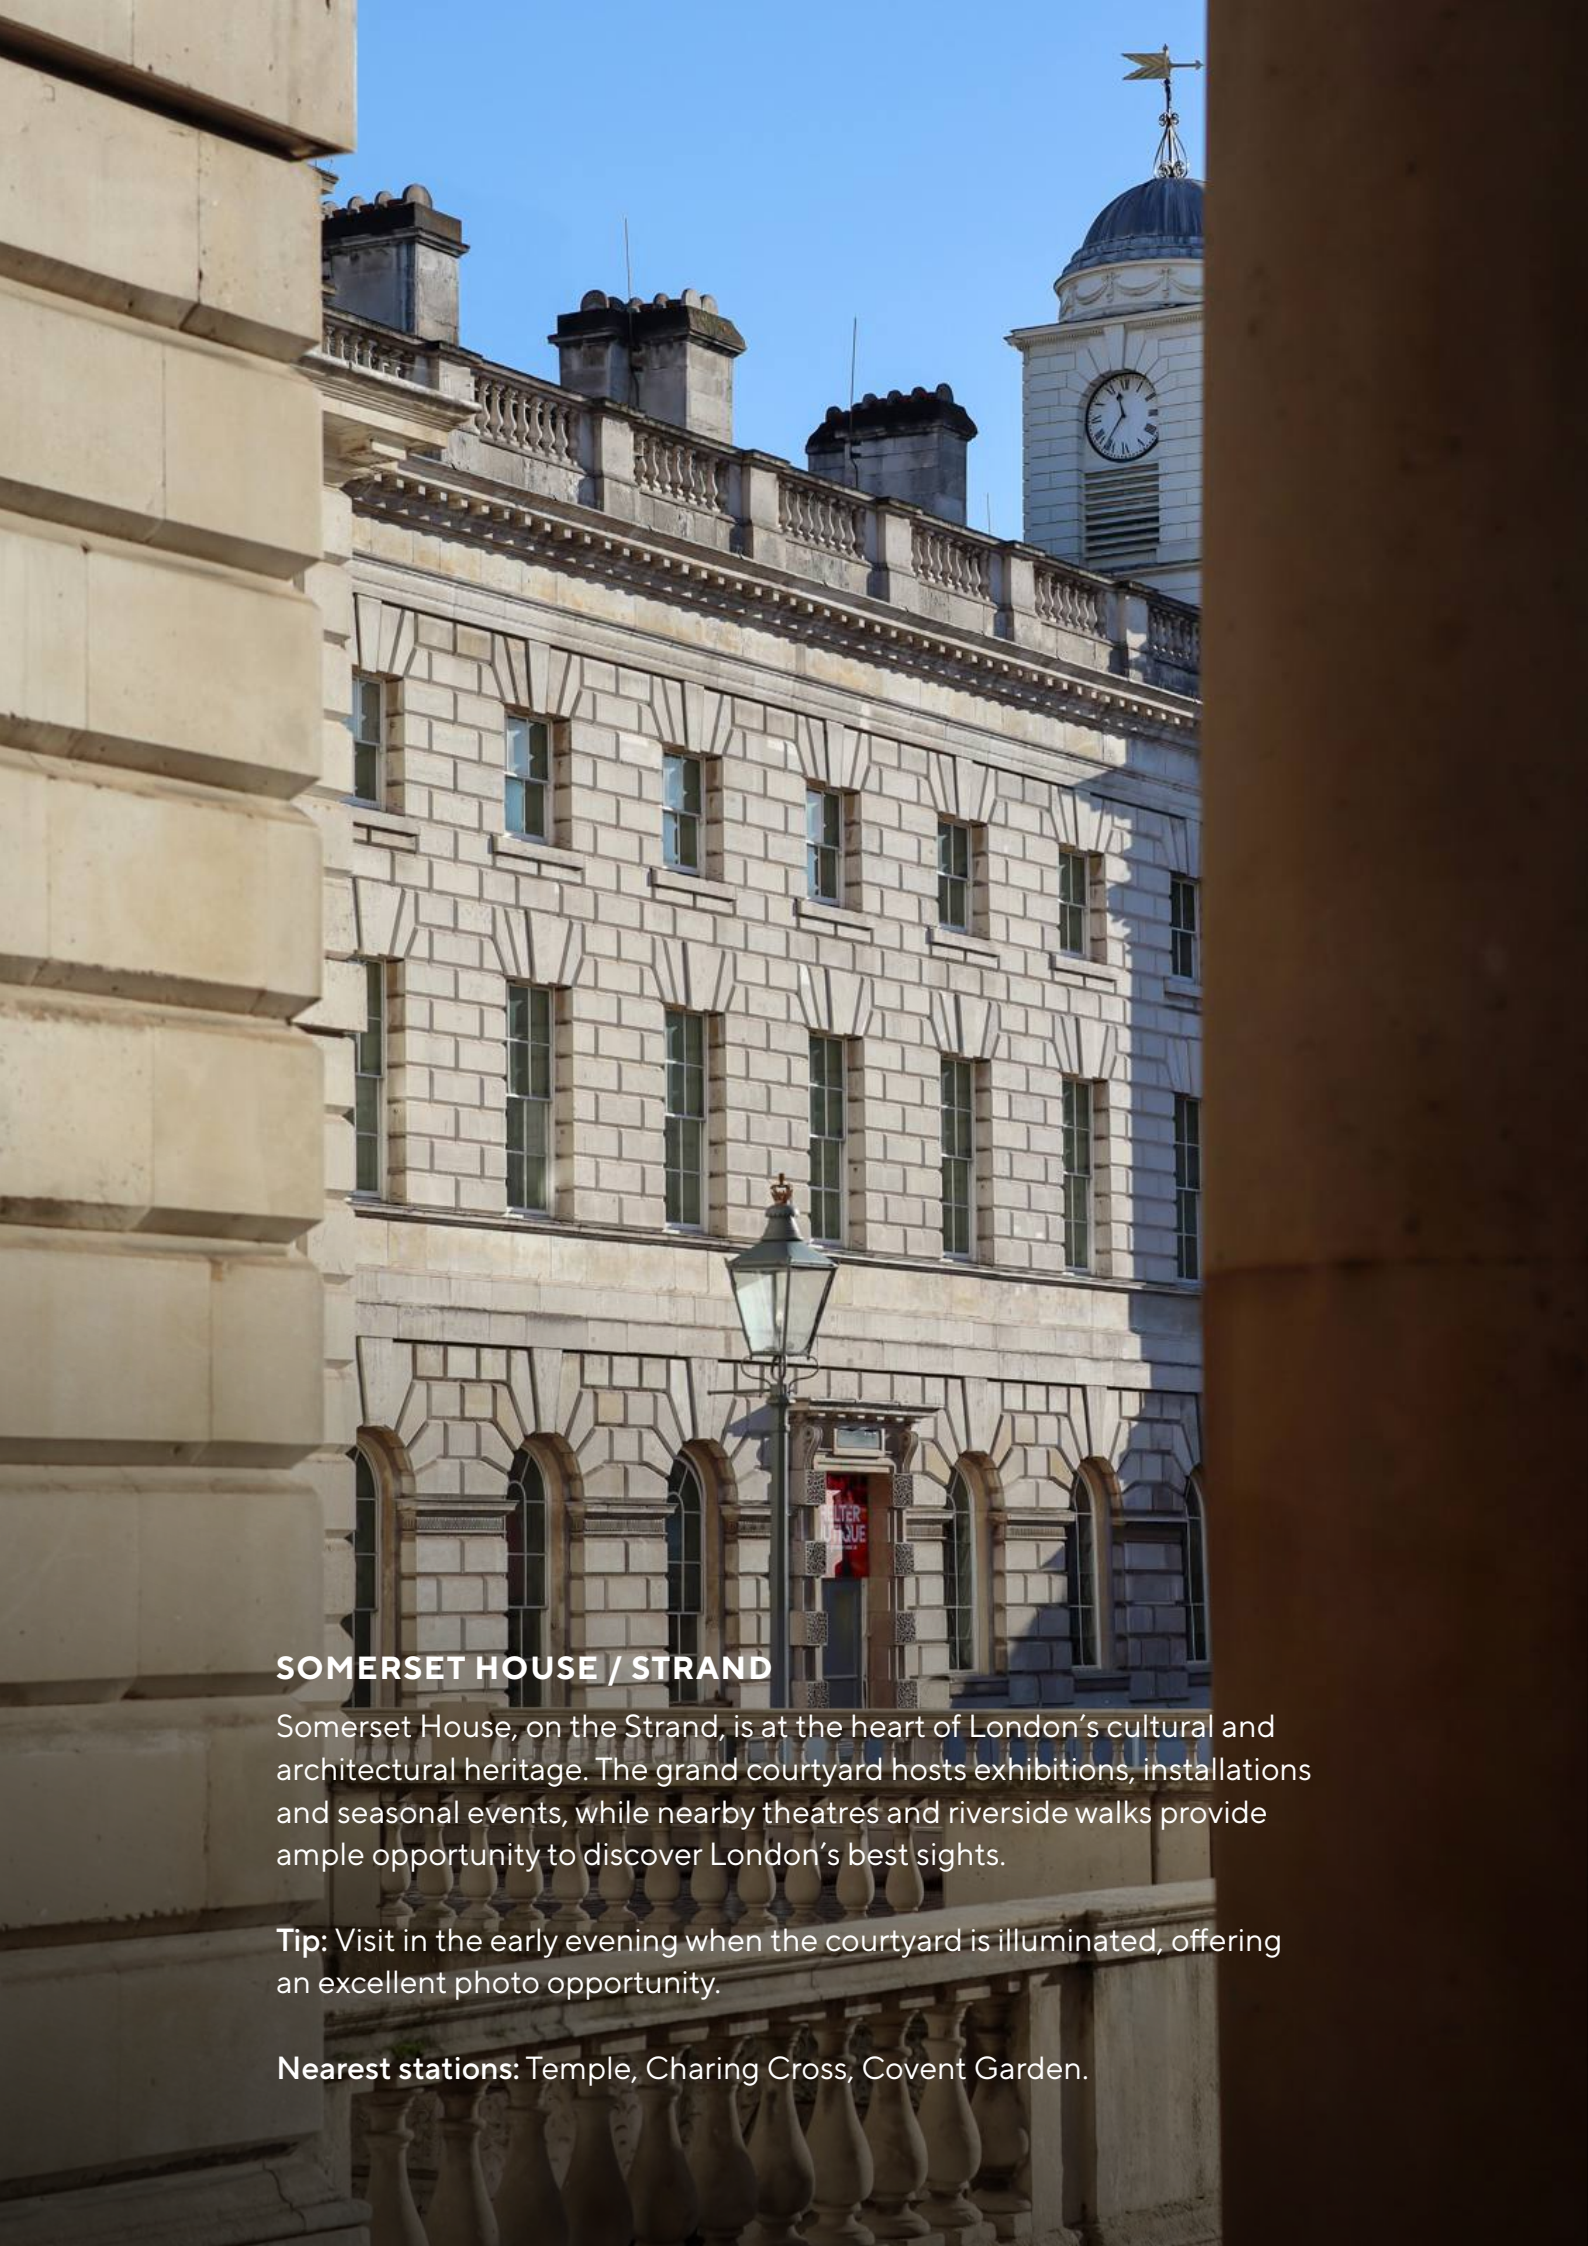

GREENWICH

Greenwich is rich in maritime history and riverside charm. Highlights include the Royal Observatory, the Cutty Sark, Greenwich Market and Greenwich Park, which offers sweeping views over the Thames and the London skyline.

Tip: Consider travelling via the Thames Clipper for a scenic and relaxing arrival along the river.

Nearest stations: Cutty Sark (DLR), Greenwich, North Greenwich.

SOMERSET HOUSE / STRAND

Somerset House, on the Strand, is at the heart of London's cultural and architectural heritage. The grand courtyard hosts exhibitions, installations and seasonal events, while nearby theatres and riverside walks provide ample opportunity to discover London's best sights.

Tip: Visit in the early evening when the courtyard is illuminated, offering an excellent photo opportunity.

Nearest stations: Temple, Charing Cross, Covent Garden.

MARYLEBONE

An elegant, village-like neighbourhood with premium shopping, cafés and galleries. Key attractions include Madame Tussauds, the Wallace Collection and Marylebone High Street, which offers independent shops and dining.

Tip: Wander along Marylebone High Street to discover charming bookshops and artisan chocolate stores.

Nearest stations: Baker Street, Bond Street, Marylebone.
